Re: Proposition 65

Stay Online is committed to maintaining its industry-leading safety, quality and sustainability.

As a valued customer, we want to notify you of the mandatory packaging and/or labeling change involving all Stay Online product streams.

Under California's Proposition 65, officially titled The Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, consumer products sold in or shipped to the state of California that contain listed chemicals must have a warning on shipping cartons.

To maintain compliance with recent Proposition 65 changes, StayOnline must add a clear and reasonable warning and/or warning label to all product cartons.

Power cord products contain trace amounts of Antimony Oxide, which is listed on the Proposition -65 list.

Chemical exposure typically occurs through inhalation, ingestion, or adsorption. Stay Online does not sell any products that are intended to be used in these methods. Stay Online cannot foresee all uses of their products (both intended and unintended uses) and as a result has opted to provide a general warning of known chemical presence.

For product shipped in OEM packaging please consult the supplier's label for substances specific to enclosed materials.
